

TRUST GRAPPLES WITH THE UNION

Steel Combine Begins Fight to Break the Strike.

SCHWAB WILL LEAD IT

Shaffer and Gompers in a Conference Which May Mean Much—The Strike Leader Not Alarmed Over the Starting of Certain Mills.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
PITTSBURGH, Aug. 8.—Never again will the Steel Trust, if it wins this strike, recognize a union in any of its mills. Within 15 hours after President Shaffer issued his order calling out the union men still at work for the Steel Trust, the trust opened a mill in this city.

This was the first step in the general campaign to be followed by the trust. Plans are all down on paper, and managers have been appointed to carry out the details.

President Schwab is to be commander-in-chief. He has made the plans, and he will be the driving force in the great strike. Morgan will do the financing, but Schwab will lead on the field.

The trust will make no overtures to the strikers. When the strikers have the full force out, when the fight is well under way, Commander-in-Chief Schwab will begin his work. Here is the plan that will be followed:

Some day next week some of the tin plate mills will be started up. These mills will produce the tin plate for the Pittsburgh district. Men will be obtained somewhere, by hook or by crook, and the mills will open suddenly as the Clark mill opened on yesterday.

Then the sheet steel mills will be opened. This will be a more difficult proposition, because sheet steel workers are not plentiful, and most of them belong to the Amalgamated Association. However, money and influence will be used to get a few sheet steel men back into some of the mills and start those mills.

Other mills in various parts of the country will be opened also. If full force cannot be obtained, enough men will be hired to start part of the mills.

No attention will be paid to the strikers, but if there is any rioting or any other infraction of law, the trust will use every effort to suppress it.

It is the hope of the trust that within six weeks enough mills will be running to thoroughly break the strike and defeat the Amalgamated Association.

Then every mill owned by the billion dollar steel trust will be declared non-union forever.

An unlimited amount of money has been placed at the disposal of President Schwab for carrying out this plan. Every steel trust must be confident of its success.

Mills Open With Nonunion Men.
This morning the United States Steel Corporation succeeded in reopening the Farm mill at the Lindsay & McCutcheon plant and President Samuel Gompers of the Amalgamated Association of Laborers arrived here to confer with President Shaffer.

The Lindsay & McCutcheon mill is a material victory over the strikers, who have not sufficient men to keep the mill in operation. There was no disturbance over the reopening of the mill. Most of the men who struck at that mill found places in independent plants and when the start was made the steel officials were elated at their success at the Wellsville, Hyde Park, Clark and Lindsay & McCutcheon plants and are preparing to open other mills.

The fire alarm at the Fairmount mill and may be needed to start up at any time. There has been no violence, but it is predicted here today that if the general strike is broken, the effective state troops will be needed almost at once to preserve order.

CHOICE MUST BE MADE WITH CARE

Director-General Will Be Chosen in Time.

DIRECTORS ARE DELIBERATE

ALL COMMITTEES MUST FIRST BE THOROUGHLY ORGANIZED.

Canada, Porto Rico and Our Own States Are Displaying a Lively Interest in the Progress of the World's Fair.

A prominent officer of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition Company told the Post-Dispatch Thursday that the corporation is not in immediate need of a director-general and that one will not be selected until it shall be convinced it has the right man.

"The World's Fair work is proceeding rapidly as possible," he said, "and a director-general could not help it along any at this time. The corporation, consequently, is not worrying itself over the situation."

"I do not wish to be understood as saying that the selection of a director-general is being deliberately delayed, for that is not true. The committee having that work in hand is taking its time in making a choice, because of its goal for the Fair and its desire to get the most available man for the place."

Departments Must First Be Organized.

All various departments of the big enterprise are being organized, and that is the first step towards making the Exposition.

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 27, 1900.—This is to certify that I have been cured of kidney and bladder trouble with one bottle of The Texas Wonder, Hall's Great Discovery, and can recommend it to others suffering in the same manner.

At Lindell Barber Shop, 615 Washington av.

Not until the actual work of building the great Fair will the need of the director-general's guiding hand be needed, and he will be provided by that time.

"No man, at this time, is in a position to say just when this work will be completed. It certainly will not be postponed longer than Oct. 1."

The task of selecting a director-general is troublesome because of its great responsibility. So much depends upon the qualifications of the man who may be chosen that the men who have the work on hand are proceeding with great deliberation.

But a decision will be reached within two months, and the choice may be made in less time. But the man who may be honored with the office will be thoroughly known to the Fair directors.

Special Man Will Go to Washington.

The legislative and agricultural committees held meetings Thursday afternoon to consider routine business.

The agricultural committee is considering its building necessities. It will probably have one great building and many small structures. One of the plans for the big building makes provision for a large pool of water, which is expected to cool the structure throughout.

A special representative of the World's Fair will go to Washington early next week to present to the state department the regulations for the exposition that must be received before the President can issue a proclamation announcing that St. Louis will hold a Fair and inviting the nations of the world to participate in the exhibition.

The law provides that regulations shall show that provision has been made for grounds and buildings, set forth the time when the Fair is to be held, indicate the admission fee and contain the rules that are to govern foreign exhibits.

Chairman Carter Will Be Here Soon.

Nearly all these conditions have been complied with and what remain to be arranged will be cleared up by a subcommittee before the week is ended.

The plan to send the regulations by a representative of the company has been adopted in the belief that it will result in earlier action being taken on them than if the mails were used.

Chairman Carter has written to President Francis that he expects to be in St. Louis before Sept. 1 and confer with the Fair officers.

The appointment of Mark Bennett of the Pan-American press bureau to a similar position on the World's Fair Press staff has been approved.

That Canada is greatly interested in the World's Fair is manifested by several letters which have been received at headquarters within 24 hours from hotel-keepers in that country, expressing a willingness to circulate the exposition literature among their guests.

Porto Rico Is Interested.

Will B. Webster, secretary of the Travelers' Protective Association, has informed Secretary Stevens that he found considerable interest in the exposition at Pui-in-Day, whether he went with an excursion of the association last week. He took a large supply of literature with him and he says this was quickly exhausted.

Women of Little Rock, Ark., have begun to prepare an exhibit for the World's Fair. It promises to be one of the features that will adorn the Arkansas building.

Fred L. Cornwell, formerly of St. Louis, but now of Porto Rico, met with the territorial committee Wednesday afternoon. He is a member of the Porto Rican Legislature. He says interest in the Fair in the new colony is great. As a member of the Legislature's finance committee, he pledges himself to see that a large appropriation shall be made for the island's

CHARLES M. REEVES APPOINTED

He Is Secretary of State and Territorial Legislative Committee.

Charles M. Reeves, a former newspaper man, has been selected as joint secretary of the state and territorial and legislative committees.

He came to St. Louis from Terre Haute, Ind., his birthplace, 10 years ago, and worked on various daily papers until two years ago when he was appointed to a position in the city assessor's office.

The state and territorial and legislative committees have decided that, as most of their work is almost identical, they will have but one secretary.

The Day of the Young Man.

From the New York Press.

This wording of an advertisement of a summer hotel, "Special rates for young gentlemen, bachelors and for vacation," reminds us that there are the days when the young man, and, above all, the "unmarried" young man, is the great desideratum. Not in the world of business, where he is a young man is needed, but in the social kingdom, but in the social circles of the best places and the country where he is needed, he is needed.

DR. WILLS HAS BEEF RELIEVED

No Longer in Charge of City Hospital Ward.

DR. NIETERT GAVE THE ORDER

CHANGE DUE TO A PHYSICIAN'S
NOCTURNAL FROLIC.

Juniors at the Hospital Had a High
Time and Dr. Nietert Ordered Dr.
Wills to Furnish Names.

At 10 o'clock Thursday morning Dr. H. L. Nietert, superintendent of the City Hospital, relieved Dr. Wills, one of the junior physicians, of his duties as officer of the day, and also directed Dr. Grim, another of the junior physicians, to take charge of the surgical cases in ward No. 2, over which Dr. Wills has had charge.

This action followed an announcement by Dr. Nietert Wednesday evening that he should suspend Dr. Wills at 10 o'clock Thursday morning, unless the latter supplied him with the names of the young physicians engaged in what he calls "a college boys' frolic" in their rooms on the third floor of the hospital Tuesday night.

At 10:30 o'clock Thursday morning Dr. Wills told the Post-Dispatch that he did not consider his release from duty a suspension.

"I don't think anything will come of the affair," he said. "I have had no talk with Dr. Nietert this morning."

Dr. Nietert began an operation immediately after leaving the hospital, and he could not be seen for several hours.

At 8:40 o'clock Dr. Nietert declined to make any statement as to what he should do in the case.

"I shall have to talk to the boys before I say anything," he said. "I cannot state now what will be done."

Frolicked in the Corridor.

"The young doctors should have remembered that they are physicians now, not college boys. No doubt they never thought what they were doing, but such things must not happen in public institutions like this."

The affair referred to was a frolic in which certain of the young doctors engaged late Tuesday night in the corridor on the third floor of the hospital and in their rooms along this corridor.

Just who participated in the affair only the participants themselves know. Dr. Nietert is trying hard to find out and his action in the case of Dr. Wills is a part of his endeavor.

He overheard a remark at the dinner table Tuesday evening in the frolic, he said, that Dr. Wills was one of the party. As Dr. Wills started to leave the dining room one of the other young physicians called to him, saying:

"Dr. Wills, don't you come in and tear up my room again tonight?"

Dr. Nietert was in the room and heard the remark, which was spoken in a jesting manner. He immediately called Dr. Wills into his office and demanded the names of the participants in the frolic. He gave the young physician until 10 o'clock Thursday to furnish the names, threatening suspension then if the demand were not complied with.

As soon as they heard of Dr. Nietert's ultimatum the doctors who were involved in the frolic fled to their rooms, stating that they were not going to state their names.

According to the plan each one is to sign the statement and it will be presented to Dr. Nietert.

Affair Took Place
Place in the Dark.

The frolic which has caused the trouble resulted physically in no more serious injuries than a few broken bed castors and a bed spring so that it could not be set up after the fun.

The entire affair took place in the dark, as the participants turned out the lights before beginning. Then they removed the beds from their rooms and piled them in the corridor.

What happened after that caused noise enough to attract the guard on the lower floors, and Dr. Nietert's attention was called to the proceedings.

Finally the guards, placed on the third floor "to be used in case of fire only," was unrolled and a mild stream of water turned on. The court in the center of the hospital was given a gentle shower and the floor of one of the rooms also received some attention.

About this time a guard from below, acting under orders from Dr. Nietert, appeared and tried to command silence.

He brought a lantern with him, thinking that possibly he could find out who the fun-makers were.

The lantern, however, proved of no use. All he could see was a number of ghostly figures dodging about him in the dark.

Quiet was finally restored. Then the guard mounted the pile of beds and from this as a vantage point he kept the peace during the remainder of the night.

JOHN G. MONIHAN RESIGNS.

Disappointed Because He Was Not Made Chief Deputy Marshal.

Because he was not appointed chief deputy, John G. Monihan resigned his position as a deputy city marshal Thursday.

The position of chief deputy has been held by Joe Conlon, who gave up the place to resume his contracting business.

When he did so it was understood that Monihan, who has had charge of the property desk, would get the plum.

Instead, Marshal Scullin appointed his son, James.

SURE TO ASK
The Kind of Coffee When Postum Is Well Made.

"Three great coffee drinkers were my old school friend and her two daughters. They are always complaining and taking medicine. I determined to give them Postum Food Coffee instead of coffee when they visited me, so without saving anything to them about it, I made a big pot of Postum the first morning, using four heaping teaspoons to the pint of water and let it boil twenty minutes, stirring down occasionally.

Before the meal was half over, each one passed up the cup to be refilled, remarking how fine the coffee was. The mother asked for a third cup and inquired as to the brand of coffee I used. I didn't answer her question just then, for I had heard her say a while before that she didn't like Postum Food Coffee unless it was more than half old-fashioned coffee.

After breakfast I told her that the coffee she liked so well at breakfast was pure Postum Food Coffee, and the reason she liked it was because it was properly made, that is, it was boiled long enough to bring out the flavor. I have been brought up on a nervous, wretched invalid, to a fine condition of physical health by leaving off coffee and using Postum Food Coffee.

I am doing all I can to help the world out of coffee slavery, to Postum freedom, and have earned the gratitude of many, many friends. Myra J. Fuller, 1625 Troost Ave., Kansas City, Mo.

CHURCH GAVE DIVORCE

MR. AND MRS. BARNETT PARTED
BY RABBI ROSENFELD.

SHE RESIDES IN ST. LOUIS

Mr. Barnett Came From Memphis for the Ceremony, Which Was Performed in East St. Louis

The Jewish divorce of Mrs. Diana Barnett of 1901 Franklin avenue, from her husband, Charles Barnett of Memphis, Tenn., was granted Wednesday by Rabbi Rosenfeld, the head of the Hebrew church in St. Louis.

The ceremony took place in the office of J. W. Bartholomew in East St. Louis, Mr. Barnett having come from Memphis for that purpose.

The legal divorce proceedings of Mrs. Barnett will come up in the Circuit Court in October.

Charles Barnett formerly ran a second-hand store on Franklin avenue, between Sixth and Seventh streets. About a year ago he left his wife and went to Memphis, and Mrs. Barnett engaged in the hardware business at 1001 Franklin avenue.

The religious divorce of the Barnetts does not divorce them in the eyes of the law. Among orthodox Jews any member who is divorced by the law only and marries again is not considered wedded by the church.

To become divorced by a rabbi both parties to the marriage contract must apply for the annulment.

It is then the duty of the rabbi to do all in his power to reconcile them, but if he finds the possibility of their living together in harmony the Jewish law requires him to grant the divorce.

The decree of divorce is written in Hebrew, and is kept by the rabbi, who places it in the archives of the church, that future generations may refer to it when necessary. Both parties to the decree are given a certificate stating the facts.

The decree in the case of the Barnetts is dated the 23d day of the month of A C in the year 5661. The nationality of both parties to it is given as Russian. Mrs. Barnett is permitted to resume her maiden name, which was Diana Barnett. The Russian name of Barnett is given as Wolfbar.

The fact is briefly stated that the pair were not happily mated and desired to be separated and that they are irreconcilable. This is testified to by the Rabbi, who therewith grants them a divorce according to the laws of the Jewish church.

The decree is granted in the city of St. Louis which is described, not as being in the State of Missouri of the United States, but by its natural boundaries and landmarks. It is described in that fashion because of the mutability of states and nations. It is in the centuries to come, St. Louis should become part of a country to use the description of it by state would not hold. But its rivers and its "underwaters," as the decree expresses it, that is, its springs, fountains and wells, will not dry up, nor its hills sink, nor its valleys rise. The decree distinctly states that the divorce granted thereby is of the church, but not of the state.

HE WAITED LIKE JACOB

Nine Years Frank Brand
Courtied Anonymously.

LEFT GIFTS ON THE DOORSTEP

HE WAS FINALLY ARRESTED FOR ANNOYING TWO SISTERS.

In Court, Because He Could Not Tell
Which of the Girls He Admired,
He Was Put Under Peace Bond.

CHICAGO, Aug. 8.—Nine years of silent devotion, never a week in all that period lapsing without the bestowal of a valentine, flowers, or a note, had been the lot of Frank Brand of 138 Sigel street in the police court yesterday. And yet, despite so many years of attention, the persistent lover was unable to decide in court which of the sisters, Lucy or Mary Streff, of 1506 Wellington street, he desired to wed. His fate showed the falsity of the saying that "all the world loves a lover," as Justice Mahoney placed him under peace bonds.

For nine years, the sisters explained, missives overflowing with endearing expressions and addressed to "Miss Streff" had been received at their residence. In addition to these bouquets and embossed valentines, on which round Cupids and arrow-pierced and bleeding hearts had been laboriously drawn, were found on the airway, in the hall, or hanging to the door knobs of their home.

During all this time the young women, who conduct a millinery establishment, 325 North Clark street, were unable to discover the identity of the mysterious admirer, although they were told by neighborhood friends, who had seen the man, that he was a tall and romantic appearing individual, who came against the door and gazed at their home after dusk and gazed at the window of their apartments. Sentimental love of fiction were also related, but the strains were not waited to their ears, and Brand yesterday earnestly denied aspirations as a troubadour.

Continued walking past the window of their shop and the occupancy of a church pew from which he heard at the eldest of the sisters finally revealed the personality of the man, but as he never accosted them or obtruded himself little attention was paid to him.

Two months ago Brand addressed his address to one of his letters and after, and later attempted to speak to Lucy Streff as she was entering her home. Miss Streff asserts that he was admonished to cease his annoying attentions, but instead Brand tried to placate her by handing her a valentine and valentines, which were strewn about the doorsteps each evening.

A warrant for his arrest followed and yesterday the tale of his strange courtship was related to Justice Mahoney in the question which sister had captivated his affections the prisoner was unable to reply and declared that until seen in the courtroom he had only known of one.

"A man who has loved a girl for nine years and then is unable to identify her is a mighty queer sort of lover," declared Justice Mahoney, who spolia the entire romance. "I'll place you under peace bonds and if you annoy either of them again I'll have you committed."

SERVED FIVE DAYS IN JAIL.

Dr. Richard Law, Mine Promoter, Is Thus Purged of Contempt.

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—Dr. Richard S. Law, the friend of Henry George and a mine promoter, has been purged of contempt by Justice Hascall in the city court in consideration of having spent five days in Ludlow street jail. Dr. Law was arrested last Saturday on an order obtained in the city court by the outcome of his alleged refusal to obey an order directing him to appear in the city court and be examined in support of his deposition in a judgment obtained against him by Mrs. Elizabeth Walling.

Dr. Law was the promoter of the Golden Scepter mine at Rock Creek, Cal., in 1891, and induced the late William A. W. Walling and Mrs. Walling to invest money in the mine.

The examination in the supplementary proceedings will be continued today.

LOCATED ENCKE'S COMET.

Prof. Wilson Reports Sighting at Northfield the Queer Star.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Aug. 8.—Prof. H. C. Wilson has telegraphed the Harvard observatory from Northfield that he observed Encke's comet on Aug. 5, 8:20 Greenwich mean time. The right ascension is 6 hours, 40 minutes, 16.8 seconds; declination plus 23 degrees, 43 minutes, 30 seconds. Encke's comet has a periodic time less than that of any other known comet, and at intervals of months comes close to perihelion, each time moving in a little shorter orbit than before. Preparations will be made for an observation at the Harvard observatory as soon as the conditions are favorable.

The time given in the Encke's comet bulletin is the astronomical time, which, reduced to civil time makes the discovery on Aug. 5 at 9 hours, 25 minutes and 3.36 seconds, reckoned at Greenwich mean time, or 4 hours, 25 minutes and 3.36 seconds eastern meridian time.

LINCOLN'S DUEL.

Abraham Lincoln was once challenged to fight a duel. He treated the matter as a joke. Being the challenged party he had the choice of weapons. He named broad axes. The indignant challenger refused to accede to such an arrangement.

"All right," says Old Abe, "make it cannons at short range." The story is an old one. Why it should be related at this time may not be exactly apparent. If you will read the Sunday Post-Dispatch you will find out.

By reading the Sunday Post-Dispatch you will also discover that Abraham Lincoln was not the only joker. There is a man named Howarth. He is an artist. He never thinks of looking for it. He tells his story by characteristic pictures. Of course you recognize them, but it takes more than three figures to tell the story. The others will be found in the Sunday Post-Dispatch.

Everyone who has ever visited the North and the South was the great civil war. At the close of the war these United States were not united as they are now. They were widely separated in sentiment and location. The distance between the North and the South was no greater, because of sentiment, than the distance between the East and West because of the broad wilderness.

A great engineering feat drew the East and West together. Now, two centuries later, methods are to be applied to this same great engineering work, to draw them still closer together. A profusely illustrated story of how this is to be done will be a feature of the Sunday Post-Dispatch.

Everyone who has ever visited the summer resorts in the northern lake region has been interested in the photographs taken at these resorts by the Sunday Post-Dispatch. They have shown St. Louis reporters as they are to be seen day by day. The scenes are familiar and bring to returning resorters pleasant recollections of charming spots.

spend on the water or on the broad verandas of the hotels and cottages.

In next Sunday's Post-Dispatch will be THREE pages of photographs taken at ELKHART, SOUTH HAVEN, PETOSKEY, HARBOR, POINT, WHEATONING and other lake resorts.

The best yet.

The "Seven Wonders of the World" are all in the Orient. Time was when it was only in the Orient that anything strange or wonderful was thought to exist. But today the strangest things come out of the West.

Here is the proof:

In the West there is a section of country—a large section—in which they raise two crops of potatoes a year. Think of it, two crops a year, when in Ireland they think they're in luck if they can raise one crop in two years.

In the West there is a place where the whole town is wild over coasting. Every man, woman and child has a sled or an interest in one and coasting parties are all the rage. And yet a flake of snow never fell in the town referred to.

In the West a wondrous scientific discovery has been made of a heavenly visitor. The presence of this visitor has been known to the Indians tribes for years, but their story was not believed. Finally scientists made an investigation and proved true the Indians' stories.

Full particulars of these three new wonders will be a part of the Sunday Post-Dispatch, with photographs in full.

In the Sunday Post-Dispatch will be told for the first time, by one who was one of the chief agents in bringing the criminal to justice, the true story of the most remarkable crime in the annals of criminal history. The teller of the story is a woman. Had it not been for her woman's instinct which caused her to take a sudden aversion to the criminal, without even knowing that a crime had been committed, he could probably never have been brought to justice.

CHINESE ARE UNTRUSTWORTHY

Rev. G. S. Miner of Foo Chow Says

A STRAY ITEM OF NEWS.

Picked Up by Our Representative on South Fourth Street.

The first time the reader turns from the crowded business center of St. Louis along South Fourth street, he will find a sign in the shape of a book bearing this inscription: "Adolph Gruenger, Book-binder, Weisbush Bldg. House." The owner of the sign and the business inquiry indorses them as follows: "For two years I had pain in the left side of my back. When at work I was constantly compelled to save myself when stooping down. I walked briskly for a short distance and the pain was so great that I was compelled to slacken my pace. I used medicines for the kidneys time after time during the two years mentioned, but until I went to the Wolf-Wilson Drug Co.'s for Doan's Kidney Pills I received little if any permanent help. After a few doses I knew they were taking effect on the kidneys. When I had completed the treatment the pain in the back and the symptoms of kidney complaint absolutely disappeared."

For sale by all dealers, price 50 cents.

MOTHER AND SON MET AT LAST

The Knot of White Ribbon
Was Not Needed.

SEPARATED FOR FIFTEEN YEARS

THE BOY WAS PLACED IN AN OR-PHANAGE AND LOST.

After Long Search He Was Found as the Adopted Son of a Wealthy Planter Down in Virginia.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—After a separation of 15 years, during which each searched for the other, Richard Trusch and his mother have been united.

When the Old Dominion Line steamer Hamilton arrived at her pier a sturdy young man, browned by wind and sun, walked down the gangplank. A knot of white ribbon was tied to his coat sleeve. He looked over the crowd on the pier anxiously and in a corner spied a girl at whose side stood an elderly woman. The girl was about to pin a knot of white ribbon on the woman's sleeve. With a glad cry the young man hurried forward.

"Mother! Mother!" he cried. "No need of that knot of white ribbon. I should know you anywhere."

The mother clasped her son in her arms and cried as though her heart would break.

Nearly sixteen years ago Mrs. Trusch placed her children in an orphanage at Norfolk, Va., while she came to New York to nurse her sick husband. When she returned the asylum authorities refused to give up the boy. The boy, who was adopted by a wealthy farmer and his whereabouts would not be revealed. Finally the mother was driven to the extremity of kidnapping the girl from the asylum.

Mrs. Trusch wrote many times to the institution where the boy had been left, but never received a reply.

A friend of the boy, Richard on the farm of William A. Brooks at Laban, Matthews county, Va.

Mr. Brooks is a wealthy bachelor and he and his sister, Averilla, a spinster, had adopted the boy, although the law declined to surrender his name, hoping by it to find his mother. Mr. and Mrs. Brooks were disappointed when they found that the boy's mother was living.

Miss Brooks has written him that she cannot give Dick up. "She is near 60 and her child is 15 years older," she writes. "I am as much their son as he is mine, and I do not intend to separate them from him in their old age. They have written me that he shall have their property, as they have legally adopted him. It is better that he be better than that he be what they have told me of my boy."

ACCOUNTS BADLY TANGLED.

Auditors of St. Francis Levee Board
Accounts Make Sharp Report.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Aug. 8.—The committee appointed to audit the accounts of the St. Francis levee board has found a remarkable mix-up in its affairs. In their report they say:

"We have checked the treasurer's book from the years 1886-87 and find that he has faithfully accounted for all funds charged to him on the secretary's book. His balance for the years 1886-87, 1887-88, and 1888-89, agrees with the balance as shown by the secretary."

"On account of the poor system employed by the secretary in keeping his books, we find it impossible to thoroughly audit the accounts in the short time allowed us for this examination. He keeps no cash book, and we find his records incomplete, especially in land and tax books. In charging the treasurer with funds received from sales of lands, it is impossible to make an instance to ascertain the number of acres sold, and it frequently happens that the same acre is sold twice over."

"Next week 'Giroffo Giroffo' is Manager Southwell's selection. It has the merit of not being common, and should prove an acceptable offering."

The Columbia Theater will open on Monday afternoon, Aug. 13, Messrs. Middleton and Tate are arranging an elaborate program for the evening, and with anything like cool weather the house will start in with a big week.

Maurice Freeman is proving his magnetic qualities at Lillian's and has not only attracted his loyal following from South Side, but has also brought us worshippers at his dramatic shrine many new devotees. Your committee has nothing but the best for the coming week, and the band concert has been a most attractive feature of the evening's entertainment. Next week the strong romantic play, "Because I Love You," will be presented with the full strength of the stock company, beginning at the matinee Sunday.

The season at Havill's will open Sunday, Aug. 12, with the latest of the American pastoral dramas, "The Minister's Son." The small New England villages and the settings of the stage are all special and picturesque of that section. The story is one of the most capable. The Imperial will open with the matinee Sept. 1 in "In a Woman's Power." It is one of the latest of the American dramas, and this engagement will mark its first St. Louis presentation.

Mme. Lillian Nordica announces by cable that she will not appear in opera next week, but that she will make an extended tour of the United States, under the management of London G. Charlton, in song recitals, and will make a special appearance on this side of the water, assume the responsibility of the entire program. Mme. Nordica is richly deservedly the best of the best of the season. The play will be "Monte Christo," Dumas, greatest romance.

Miss Juliette Farrah, a St. Louis girl, has been engaged to a young man, a man of leading family in the company which he will out on the road this fall. The company will produce nothing but Shakespearean plays.

Mary Norman, York and Adams and a number of other features make up the vaudeville bill at the Suburban. Matinee are JANITORS FORM A TRUST.

The Movement Is to Be Spread From Chicago to Other Cities.

CHICAGO, Aug. 8.—Janitors in this city are forming a trust. They call it "The Janitors' Protective Association" and declare it is designed for the amelioration of the conditions of those who are in charge of office buildings and flats. The association has 150 members and has applied for a charter. At a meeting last night bylaws were adopted, officers elected and trustees named.

It is said an effort will be made to form similar associations in other cities.

GARDENS THIS WEEK ARE DOING WELL

Two North St. Louis members of the Chicago Castle Square chorus who are visiting their mother, Mrs. Mary Sieger, at 1705 North Garrison avenue.

Despite the mifeils at the Delmar garden, the program for next week includes a list of well-known entertainers.

De Mora and Gracetta are doing an astonishingly clever exhibition of equilibrist and acrobatic stunts at the program at Fort Park Highlands this week is the most entertaining Col. Higgins has ever put up. The Strakosch Opera Company, which goes back to the legitimate at the end of the summer season, renders the gems of several operas in fine style. Last night they interpolated the sextette from "Lucia di Lammermoor." Miss Dressler's delightful skill, in which she is so ably assisted by Adele Farrington, is still the most enjoyable 20 minutes of the evening.

Next week that handsome basso, Eugene Cowles, will be the big attraction in a bill in which will occur such good things as George W. Lederer's piano ballet from one of the most prominent farmers of Coffee County and the Prosper Troupe.

THEY HAD WALKED 250 MILES SEA COLLISION COST 7 LIVES

Reece P. Smith and His Two Little Sons
Were Penniless When They Reached St. Louis.

Reece P. Smith and his two sons, John, 9 years old, and Henry, aged 7, reached St. Louis Thursday morning, after a trudging 250 miles over country roads from Sparta, Christian County, Mo. They were foot-sore and hungry, and the policeman who found them and questioned them was so sorry for them that, with his own money, he took them to a cheap restaurant and bought them a meal.

The father and his two sons are on their way to Jersey County, Ill., where he says he has relatives who will help him. Smith had a crew of 14 men, the Oceanic brought the seven survivors to this port.

The Kinkora sank and seven persons were drowned. The collision occurred in a fog. The bow of the Oceanic was damaged. The Kinkora was a coasting vessel, trading between Waterford and Limerick. She had a crew of 14 men. The Oceanic brought the seven survivors to this port.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 8.—Jack Powell's defeat at Pittsburgh Wednesday has not affected the team's determination to win both games of the Cincinnati series.

It was announced at the ball park here this morning that Hahn would officiate against St. Louis in the opening game with Pettz receiving.

Sudhoff will hold up the St. Louis end, according to Capt. Donovan, and Jack Ryan will be given a much-needed rest, Nichols officiating instead.

Hahn has always been effective against the Cardinals, but Hellenbrock's men are confident of winning from the Reds, notwithstanding the fact that the latter gave Pittsburgh a drubbing recently.

The Cardinals are fit to give the battle of a lifetime.

Not a man on the team, aside from pitchers Murphy and Wicker, is not up to his job physically.

Hedrick is still sore from his hard work in the famous 3-run game against the Pirates, but he is in condition to go to his place.

With both out and infield normal for St. Louis it is hard to figure Cincinnati as a winner in either of the two games.

Sudhoff is in prime condition, not being in the least disturbed by the rumors about him.

When told that Hahn would probably oppose him, the "Big Boy" did not tremble at all and stated that he had been beaten by St. Louis before.

In contrast to the betting fever prevalent in Pittsburgh, no speculation is indulged here. The general tone of popular discussion is one of resignation at the inevitable.

Cincinnati will be lucky to win, is the local idea.

Murphy, while not announced as the box artist for tomorrow's game, is expected to go in. While his second finger is still stiff, no other man is available.

Harper is gone. Wicker is still hardly up to a battle and Powell and Sudhoff will both have been out of their regular turns.

M. Stanley Robinson has not been with the club since it left Chicago.

Kaiser "Loole" advances no statement as to his whereabouts or the cause of his absence.

CRESCUS EXHIBITS TODAY

George H. Ketcham, His Owner, Will Drive Him for a New Record in New York.

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—Interviewed at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., concerning Crescius, and his chances, George H. Ketcham of Toledo, O., owner and driver of the horse, said:

"Some people have a notion that I am not anxious to have him break the record now as I have been heretofore.

"I do not think he has reached his limit, and if the conditions of the weather and track are what they bid fair to be I believe you will see a new trotting record made here.

The Hudson river track is fast and the rain has made it in excellent condition. It is a little soft near the pole, but that is to be all right before the race this (Thursday) afternoon.

"I weighed 174 pounds at Columbus last Friday; now I weigh 178, but I expect to have reduced to 175 when I drive Crescius. The horse is in perfect physical condition and fit for his work, and I want to have a warm afternoon and an entire absence of wind."

Ketcham will receive $1000 for this exhibition by Crescius. The horse will be shipped from here at once to Brighton Beach, where he will meet The Abbot in a special race Aug. 15.

Stories of Powell, Burkett, Heidrick, and Other St. Louis Ball Players—Fred Clarke's Faux Pas—Gossip of the Cardinals En Route.

BY J. E. WRAY.

Sporting Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Aug. 8.—Fred Clarke, captain of the Pittsburgh ball team, is a great ball player.

He acts the part and everybody says he is it. But on occasions he shows to the contrary.

In the Pittsburgh series he exhibited, on one occasion, a positive right to be called a dub.

It was Jesse Burkett who advised the grandstand and the Pittsburgh management how much of a dead end Clarke could be.

"Say Burkett," shouted Jess from the field, "how do you like your general?"

The occasion for the remark occurred in the grandstand of the fourth inning of Tuesday's game. Clarke was on second and Tannehill on third. Harper had retired Yeager, unassisted, at first, and Beaumont and a flag will be given instead.

Clarke thought it was up to him to advance a base. He neglected to think, however, that Tannehill, first up, had singled at the start and was camping at third.

On Tuesday's game, however, Tannehill, and forgetful of the pitcher being on third, on a desperate chance he started to steal third base.

Of course, there wasn't a thing on earth Tannehill could do. He was off third, with no chance of getting home, and Clarke only noticed him when he arrived at the third base line, where he made a matter of course, was caught in the run-up.

Then Burkett grew sarcastic to the Dreyfus box.

"It was a pure case of forgetfulness on Clarke's part," he said.

POWELL IS ON HIS VERY GOOD SUNDAY BEHAVIOR.

He promised his mother, and probably the St. Louis management, that he would henceforth forever refrain from looking on the grape when it had even a cardinal appearance, and has been living up to his word.

All the other members of the club, hitherto suspected of leaning toward the Bacchanalian cup or other things calculated to disturb the winning of the team, have distinctly "cut it out."

Whether it is due to the management, diplomacy or iron hand of Kaiser "Loole," is not known.

It is true, however, that the morale of the club is excellent. If games are lost it will be because the other teams are stronger and better.

Pitcher John Powell is one of that contingent of unfortunates which is personally misnamed at all times.

Powell, to the public, is a boiler maker. That typifies him to the public.

According to popular estimation his sole virtue is to be able to pitch baseball in the intervals between alcoholism.

He is supposed to be a man of brawn and vulgarity. A man of blows, rather than of words, and his friends bear out the fact.

It is a superficial supposition. John looks to be a great, burly, uncouth man with nerves, none and consideration on the part of Clarke.

He is as ready with a blow as with a word. He is obstinate and intractable. When aroused he has no head or sense for the consequences of his actions.

Nevertheless, John Powell, pitcher, obstinate and crude as he seems, wept at a word from his mother.

When the trouble between Powell and the St. Louis management came to a crisis resulting in his suspension and fine, he confessed the whole trouble to her.

Powell is authority for what followed.

When she observed that her son did not report to headquarters after the team's arrival in Chicago she asked him what was the matter.

"Nothing, mother," was his answer. The same reply was given to his mother.

Finally, after begging him, he broke down and told her that the treatment he had received at the hands of the St. Louis management was the cause of all disorders.

"John is a many man," said Mrs. Powell. "He doesn't know what fear is. He has a hot head at times that runs away with him. But I know him."

"He is a good boy and seldom does wrong willfully. If tears came to his eyes when he is made to do his duty, it is because he was sorry I should know it."
